Missourians Stopping Adult Financial Exploitation

Financial Exploitation Is A Crime

What is Financial Exploitation?

Financial exploitation is a crime. It is the illegal use of a senior or disabled adult's resources for another person's profit.

It occurs when a senior or disabled adult is tricked or coerced into handing over money to a son, daughter, relative or stranger.

Exploitation of more than $50 is considered a felony.

Who is a Target?

Seniors who are least 60 years old, and disabled adults between 18 and 59 years old, are targets.

Common Scams or Scenarios

- Fake prizes

A stranger says a senior has won a nonexistent prize and asks the senior to send a check to pay the prize's taxes, or gets the senior's credit card number to pay for the prize's shipping charges.

- Excessive rent or service charges

A stranger charges a senior excessive rent or unreasonable fees for basic care services such as transportation, food or medicine.

- Unauthorized withdrawal

A disabled adult gives his ATM card to a caregiver so the caregiver can withdraw money to buy his groceries. The caregiver withdraws $200 more than needed and pockets it.
